Denver, Colo., June 29—Frank H. Henwood, who has been on trial here for the murder of George E. Copeland, was today found guilty of murder in the second degree by the jury. The jury sent word into the courtroom at 2:30 o'clock that they had agreed on a verdict, but the trial judge was not present in the courtroom. He arrived about three o'clock, when the jury was called and rendered their verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree. Henwood was very pale and showed signs of extreme nervousness. He said that he had expected a verdict of acquittal.

This verdict under the Colorado statutes carries with it a sentence of imprisonment of from ten years to life, the time to be set by the court.

CARLSBAD PEACHES ARE RIPE

Carlsbad, N. M., June 28.—The commercial peach is ripening somewhat earlier than usual and the first shipment was made yesterday. Early peaches have been on the local market for some time, but are not grown extensively. The standard varieties now getting ripe are the Mamie Ross and the Carman. Shipment will be by express for the next week or so. In the first part of July shipping in car lots will begin.

The commission men and the peach growers had made careful arrangements for the handling of the crop, but the last day or two they have had to do some tall hustling to get expert pickers and other help to take care of the fruit that is turning ripe about ten days ahead of calculations. V. L. Gifford of Stockton Cal., will have charge of the picking, packing and the shipping of the crop. He has had long experience in the business in California and has already demonstrated that he knows how to meet unexpected conditions.

Forget It

If you detest this vale of tears, forget it! If you've a whine for victims' ears, forget it; the folks who toddle to and fro and do their duties as they go don't care about your tale of woe—forget it. You think your mission is to teach? Forget it. You'd like a chance to make a speech? Forget it. Too many men like you have sinned by giving us less work than wind; if you to noise your faith have pinned, forget it. You say the laws are all unjust? Forget it. They grind the poor man's face to dust? Forget it. The poor man who neglects his jaw to do a stunt with axe or saw will have no trouble with the law—forget it. You say your neighbors are unkind? Forget it. They persecute and rob you blind? Forget it. For folks are pretty much the same; the man who roars is most to blame; they'll treat you as you play the game; forget it. You have some gossip to relate? Forget it. A scandal never pays the freight—forget it. A hundred bosoms have been wrung by evil stories you have sprung; if you've another on your tongue, forget it.—Walt Mason.

ROBBERS MISTAKEN IN TRAINS

Glendale, Ore., June 29—Apparently mistaking section one of Southern Pacific train No. 14 for the northbound train, said to be carrying 400,000 dollars in gold dust four robbers held up the train near West Fork. The robbers climbed aboard the engine while taking water, and as soon as the train got under way, made their way across the tender, where they compelled the engineer to stop the train. They uncoupled the mail and express cars and forced the enginemem to proceed a short distance down the track. The mail car was rifled the safe being dynamited, and the registered mail taken. Approaching the express car they demanded entrance under threats of dynamiting the car, but Messenger Robb paid no heed to their threats. After attempting to break in by means of a crow bar, they desisted and decamped with the booty already secured. Posses have been organized and are scouring the country, but the robbers had secured a good lead and may make good their escape.

Married on mountain Top

Los Angeles, June 29—As night settled over Two Tree Hill, making the place more lonely than ever, a couple stood on the very pinnacle and were married. They were Miss Eva H. Hunter, a school teacher, and Baylies Guye Walker, a business man, both of Elcentro.

There were nearly one hundred persons present. There was no light save that cast by the moon just rising over the city below. It was the wish of the bride that the marriage take place on the top of this hill.

It was on the identical spot that they were betrothed two years ago to the hour.

Uninviting as the place is at night, the wedding was far from simple. Miss Hunter was garbed in a splendid wedding creation, the bridegroom was clad in evening dress, and the guests in evening clothes. So steep is the hill that the clergyman found himself out of breath when he reached the summit and the wedding ceremony was halted until he could speak.

The Estancia Lumber Company received a car of lime last night.
